

Polybius cont.- There he pitched a camp: and having sent an embassy to obtain leave to pick up his dead, he obtained a truce for performing their obsequies.

His loss amounted to nearly 10,000 infantry & 300 cavalry killed, & 4,000 taken prisoners.

Three elephants were killed on the field, and two died afterwards of their wounds.

On Ptolemy's side the losses were fifteen hundred infantry killed and seven hundred cavalry: sixteen of his elephants were killed, and most of the others captured.

Such was the result of the battle of Raphia between kings Ptolemy and Antiochus for possession of Coele-Syria. After picking up his dead Antiochus retired with his army.

Antiochus III

Daniel II:11

“And the king of the South shall be moved with rage, and go out and fight with him, with the king of the North, who shall muster a great multitude; but the multitude shall be given into the hand of his enemy.”
